About THE SHAKESPEARE PROJECT OF CHICAGO

Since 1995, The Shakespeare Project of Chicago has presented the works of William Shakespeare and other great dramatists to Chicago-area audiences through our Theatrical Reading Series and our Education Outreach Program with local schools and universities.

We have long-standing relationships with three libraries where we present our season of four plays (free of charge to audience members) in a theatrical staged reading format. They are: The Newberry Library (Chicago), the Wilmette Public Library and the Highland Park Public Library. Our readings are presented under a staged reading agreement with Actors' Equity Association, the union of professional stage actors.

Our 16th season which commences in October of this year includes:

Measure for Measure, by William Shakespeare, directed by Peter Garino

Mary Stuart, by Friedrich Schiller, directed by Jeff Christian

The Merry Wives of Windsor, by William Shakespeare, directed by Barbara Zahora

The Tempest, by William Shakespeare, directed by Peter Garino

Our Education Outreach Program includes 50-Minute Hamlet (adapted by Jeff Christian) and Page to the Stage: Macbeth. The Sonnet Project, currently in pre-production, will create an on-line, living repository of Shakespeare's sonnets that will be the first Internet resource of its kind to combine readings of the sonnets by professional actors, actor interviews, director discussions and interactive exhibits on this topic.

In our readings, our artistic focus is rooted in illuminating the timeless truths found in the words of these great plays. Our audience members value the emphasis we place on the text, opening up a unique experience for them unencumbered by scenery, props, costumes and imposed conceptual conceits. For our young audiences, our approach to the work is driven by a simple goal: making their first experience of Shakespeare a positive one.
